GRAY TIER

TECHNOLOGIES

About

Gray Tier Technologies provides technology consulting services focused on solving the toughest cyber security challenges faced by government, commercial, and military organizations. Gray Tier's foundation is deeply rooted in protecting military networks where we honed our skills defending mission critical systems from world-wide cyber threats.

Core Capability

Our primary area of expertise is Adversary Threat simulation. Drawing on our experiences as a cyber-opposing-force for the US Army our value proposition is that we can conduct full range cyber operations from network infiltration and intelligence gathering to implementing tailored effects. We specialize in developing bespoke offensive tools to emulate advanced threats.

Government

Our highly trained and talented personnel can provide Adversary Simulation, Penetration Testing, Software Development, Cyber Intelligence, and Training for your organization. Our core has many combined years of experience protecting both classified and unclassified government systems.

Commercial

Leveraging our many years of defending mission critical systems for the US military we are here to help you safeguard your corporate data from attackers. Gray Tier's experts use techniques and tactics from world-wide threat actors to provide a realistic evaluation of your network defenses against today's adversaries.

Military

Our cleared experts have years of experience supporting military exercises as offensive cyber operators. We can provide custom scenarios, current threat emulation, and tailored effects to support any exercise.

Mission

To prepare our customers to defend their systems against global cyber threats.

Vision

Our vision is to be the premier security services and solutions provider for our Enterprise, Government, and Military customers.
